Banks, brokerage firms and asset managers across the world are piling more resources into their 'middle office' risk and compliance teams to avoid facing massive fines from regulators. Many new jobs have been created in financial compliance due to a shortage of compliance professionals and changing regulatory SFC and HKMA requirements. The MSc in Marketing has continuously been offered in Hong Kong for the past 17 years. This programme strikes a fine balance between theory and practice, truly a great choice for practicing professionals in pursuit of higher education. Due to buoyant market demand in tourism and events, the University added the MSc in Marketing with Festival and Event Management to the suite on offer in 2010. Over the last few decades, selling has evolved from focusing on short term seller needs to longer term customer and seller needs. The importance of selling skills to corporate performance and economic growth is increasingly recognized by corporations and governments.
